THE HOME FRONT 1939~1945 WWII AMERICA

Telling the Story ...

Generation to Generation

The Wright Museum exists to educate future generations about the significant and lasting achievements and experiences that occurred on the American Home Front from 1939-1945, while honoring the values and sacrifices of the men and women who served America during World War II.

Thank you for your participation in helping the Wright Museum educate our visitors. It is our hope that these stories will help them to see the museum's exhibits through the eyes of someone who experienced the years 1939-1945.
